For the media façade Ciprian Mureșan (1977, Dej, lives and works in Cluj, Romania) has reworked a number of his animations of micro-actions, some of which come from works referencing a precise historic context. The artist has filmed a series of designs sheet by sheet, turning his sketches into animated shorts.

The simplicity of the drawings and the brevity of the situation they depict contain an analysis of contemporary society and various aspects of daily life: some of these brief, repetitive actions reference collective experiences of the post-Communist era, while others reflect the artist's ironic interpretation of contemporary art.
