

TWITTER #MUSEUMWEEK

Museion is participating in the #MuseumWeek, organised by Twitter from March 24th to 30th.

During this special week, museums from all over Europe will virtually connect in order to get closer to their audience and to create a direct dialogue.

By using the hashtag #MuseumWeek the museums will reveal a closer look behind the scenes of their usual activities. Each day will be dedicated to a special topic – get to know the everyday life of the museum, ask the experts and discover hidden and unusual places you might not know already.

Last summer Museion offered the series “Presenting Museion” in which our staff explained their work to the public.

Thanks to the #MuseumWeek on Twitter, Museion is using the possibility to reach out to all art lovers and people interested in culture, or simply just curious, for constructive discussions.
