

WALKING: BASICALLY MEANS MAKING YOUR LIFE DIFFICULT

---

“Walking to the North or South Pole, climbing Everest or exploring contemporary art, always means making your life more difficult and suffering a little bit. But I think that’s very healthy.” We asked Erling Kagge, the walking maestro, what an experience with contemporary art can add to your life. His answers are in this video interview.