

SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Welcome to the culture factory: the art of today gives secondary school students opportunities to think about and engage with highly contemporary issues. Art is also a starting point for connections with other disciplines, including philosophy, religion, languages, economics and social sciences. As well as the various educational activities linked to each exhibition, secondary school students have the opportunity to gain insight into the museum's mission and functions, get to know figures from the contemporary art world and forge connections between the topics covered in art history lessons and contemporary movements in art.
